AlgiNot | The alginate alternative
AlgiNot | A time-saving, cost-effective alternative to traditional alginate

Kerr continues to deliver an alginate alternative with outstanding value and clinical performance—now in a faster set time to increase patient comfort without sacrificing working time, plus an improved thixotropic consistency. AlgiNot™ is ideal for preliminary impressions, provisional impressions, orthodontic models, bite registration, sports guards, bleaching trays and more.

Features

- High deformation recovery. Does not distort upon removal or after pouring multiple casts.
- Low dimensional change. Retains its shape upon set. No special storage required.
- Can be disinfected. Eliminates cross-contamination concerns without affecting dimensional stability.

Research

As traditional alginates benefit from inherent hydrophilicity, alginate alternatives must behave the same way. AlgiNot breaks the surface tension of intraoral fluids and displaces them to register outstanding detail. And with superior elasticity, AlgiNot rebounds from deformation far better than traditional alginates—or even other alternatives—to produce an impression that is a true negative replication of the dentition.
