What is Getting Things Done® (GTD®) Training?

Getting Things Done (GTD) Training teaches skills to manage the constant flow of requests, tasks, and interruptions people face at all levels of the organization. By learning how to capture, clarify, and organize incoming requests, people are more likely to make strategic decisions about where to invest their time and energy, focus on the right priorities, and prevent critical projects from slipping. They are also less likely to experience stress and burnout.

Who Needs Training?

Nobody gets a degree in productivity. You hire people for their technical skills and experience. But few—if any—are well versed in workflow management. And when even just a couple of people fumble, their slip-ups significantly and negatively impact stress levels, innovation, execution, and engagement for the rest of the team. GTD teaches your skilled knowledge workers at every level and in any role how to better get work done so they can effectively put their valuable, technical skills and experience to use.

Habits That Work, For Work

What is The Power of Habit™ Training?

Based on the New York Times bestseller by Charles Duhigg, The Power of Habit Training teaches practical skills for rapid behavior change. The course draws on the science of habit formation to help learners recognize when they need to change, what behaviors they ought to change, and how to make desired behaviors stick. Attendees learn how to align behavior with belief, action with aspiration, and execution with strategy.

Who Needs Training?

Whether you’re trying to adopt a new technology, develop new leaders, or innovate beyond “it worked before,” you face a habit challenge.

Adaptability is critical to success. Yet habits, by definition, persist. Organizations, teams, and individuals often know they need to change, but fail to do so. This space between knowing and doing represents a behavioral lag. And living in the lag threatens engagement, innovation, performance, productivity, health, and happiness.

What Does The Power of Habit Training Teach?

The course teaches how habits work and how to unlock the power to change them.

Learn to:

- Identify the habits that disproportionately impact productivity, performance, engagement, and happiness.
- Use skill, not will, to master habits for dramatic results.
- Adapt when faced with change, and integrate routines that produce desired outcomes.

Benefits of The Power of Habit

Enable Behavior Change. Participants learn skills to change their habits and empower them to align their behavior with your organizational goals and values.

Increase Agility

Reinforce Training
Skills taught by The Power of Habit Training can be applied to make any other skill-based training sticky within your organization.

The Power of Habit is available in the following delivery modalities:

Live: in-person, one-day instructor-led classroom training.
Live Online: Virtual, instructor-led training available in five spaced modules.
Online: On-demand training.

About the Book

A New York Times bestseller, The Power of Habit is the essential book for understanding how to manipulate cues, routines, and rewards to build habits that create positive results.
